

What is Cal-Learn?

Cal-Learn is a statewide program for pregnant and parenting teens, both moms and dads, who receive CalWORKs/TANF. It is not a school. The goal of Cal-Learn is to help teens graduate from high school, become independent and form healthy families.

Do I have to Participate?

If you are a pregnant or parenting teen receiving CalWORKs/TANF, you must participate in Cal-Learn. Some teens can become exempt from the program or delay participating under special circumstances.

To Qualify for Cal-Learn you must:

- live in the same household as your child
- be under 19 years of age
- not yet have a high school diploma or GED
- not be in fostercare

For more information and details about your participation in Cal-Learn talk to your county Cal-Learn program staff.

Getting Your Diploma

Once in Cal-Learn you will get a case manager who will help you develop a plan to finish high school or earn a GED. If you are not currently attending school, your case manager will assist you in getting back into school or find the right school to meet your needs. The program includes:

Assessment determine what services and support you need so you can meet your educational goals.

Develop a plan so you can receive the services you need and get into school.

Take action to put you on the road to reaching your goals.

Tracking to ensure you are making progress toward your diploma or GED and meeting other goals.

Periodic plan review to identify what works and what doesn't.

Earn a Cash Bonus or a Sanction

Cal-Learn rewards good school performance and penalizes poor school performance.

Do well and earn a bonus:

Receive good grades and turn in your report card each time it's issued = $100 added to your family's grant for each report card period.
Graduate from high school = $500 to you.

Do poorly and earn a sanction:

Receive below a D average or fail to turn in your report card each time it's issued = $100 taken away from your family's grant for each report card period.

Case Management for Your Success

Your case manager will help you with more than just school. A wide range of support services may be available to help you meet the challenges you face as a teen parent such as:

Child Care Expenses

The Cal-Learn program may help pay for child care while you attend school. If you are working and going to school, you may also qualify for child care while you are at work.

School Expenses

The GED test, books and lab fees are some of the things that the Cal-Learn program may help you buy for school.

Transportation expenses

You may be able to get help paying for transportation to get to and from school.

Support Services

Your case manager may provide you with referrals to other agencies dealing with a variety of concerns you may face including:

- legal issues
- domestic violence
- health issues
- housing
